

DE-STRESS

Diagnostic Equipment, Software & Training Resource with Encompassing Service & Support

DE-STRESS is a group of industry experts, hardware engineers and software professionals that provide integrated services and solution based product offerings that reduce in-house resource requirements. The team is responsible for management, integration and maintenance of diagnostic equipment, laptops, software, technical support and other miscellaneous needs for diverse fleet maintenance initiatives needs for diverse fleet maintenance initiatives.

Benefits

- Enables a company to focus on its core business objectives
- Allows the technician to remain focused on vehicle repairs to keep the fleet moving
- Frees up internal IT resources that that would otherwise be required to support vehicle maintenance systems
- Improves diagnostic equipment reliability and enhances technician productivity
- Reduces fleet maintenance operating costs through system optimization and needs analysis
- Enables the redirect of personnel and financial resources from non-core activities to core business initiatives
- Provides the necessary personnel, expertise, shop equipment, and training so companies can provide their technicians with more services than they previously offered
- Benchmark your fleet maintenance metrics against similar fleets to help with technician training and education
- Staff with over 25 years of expertise working with many companies and municipalities of all sizes who have had similar challenges
- You manage us from the highest levels by telling us what you need; we maintain and take care of your equipment needs
- Experience and expertise across several vocations and vehicle network protocols

